ADAM

He doesn't get it. I don't want the job. Thanks for the offer, but the answer is no. I'm going to UNC in the fall to study architecture. Okay? That's it.

Adam starts to leave angry, then turns back with:

ADAM

He called me selfish. I'M the one being selfish here!? He's basically forcing me to break his heart just to do what I want to do. Isn't this exactly what him and grandpa always used to fight about? Now he's doing it to me.

MOM

He wants what's best for you.

ADAM

Why does every dad want their son to do EXACTLY what they did? Like it's some sort of 'honor' to follow in his footsteps. As if I don't want more. I mean no offense, but Mom, it's a construction company! Any mindless robot can do what he does.

(beat)

I'm glad that he loves it, but it's HIS dream. Not mine. I'm going to college to get a degree and make my own footsteps. I don't want to move rocks and dig holes for someone else. I want to create my own vision. Can you understand that?
