

BRAIN SCAN

by Japheth Gordon

INT. UNDERCOVER GOVERNMENT LABORATORY - NIGHT

Cold, clean science lab where Saris sits in an examination chair wearing a hi-tech neuroscanning helmet. Dr. Hess is adjusting the wires that lead from the headgear to the computer mainframe.

SARIS

How long is this gonna take?

DR. HESS

Couple hours, but it depends on --

SARIS

-- A couple hours??

DR. HESS

This test is important. It's so we know whether --

SARIS

-- Whether or not to release me. I know. Well let me save you some time; I'm fine.

DR. HESS

You're acting like you know what I'm going say but --

SARIS

-- That because I do. You want to make sure I won't hurt anybody else. And I'm telling you, it's safe.

DR. HESS

I want to believe you, but the only way that we can be sure you're feeling stable is with this test.

(beat)

I'm sorry that it has to be --

SARIS

-- Whatever. Let's just get on with it.

As Dr. Hess turns the knobs on the device, we:

CUT TO: