

ALLISON

No one ever told me I was pretty before. At least, no one outside our family. He has a way of talking me. When we're at a party - in a room full of people, he makes me feel like we're the only two there. (BEAT) I know I keep going on and on and you think I'm being silly, but I'm just really excited you guys finally met. So? What did you think of him? (BEAT) Did you not like him or something? Why aren't you saying anything? (BEAT) This is important. It is. It's very important to me because Scott's a sweet guy, okay? I can tell he's scared around you. He thinks you're this tough marine who just got back and he's right, you are. But you're also my big brother. My kind, caring, and sometimes goofy big brother. Just give Scott a chance.